

AIMS AND SCOPE

The journal publishes articles on original research, short communications and reviews covering all modern engineering materials:

- metals and alloys,
- ceramics and glass,
- polymers and composite materials,
- wood,
- elastomers,

The journal also covers the area of nanomechanics of materials.

In addition to regular issues, special issues on specific subjects are often published. These special issues contain invited reviews by eminent scientists in the field.

NOTES TO AUTHORS

Manuscripts should be submitted directly to the editors.

Manuscripts should be typed double spaced. Body of text should not exceed 16.5 (width) x 22 (length) cm.

All submissions must include a diskette copy formatted for use with PCs, and in Word for Windows. Photographs should be submitted in duplicate. Please prepare these as glossy black and white copies with identification on the reverse in pencil. Single copies of line drawings should be prepared in exact size. All lettering should appear on the illustration, but figure captions and all tables should be typed separately.

Placement of figures and tables in the text should be indicated.

Please include a short abstract.

References should be indicated in the text by consecutive numbers in slashes. The list of references should be typed in numerical order at the end of the text.

All accepted manuscripts are subject to editing.

25 reprints will be provided free of charge. In the case of articles submitted by more than one author, please indicate to whom the reprints should be sent. A reprint order form is incorporated in the galley proofs and should be returned together with the proofs.

Page charge and reprints:

From January 2010 this journal has introduced a page charge ($40 USD per final printed page) for each accepted paper. You will receive an invoice directly from the publisher. Please pay promptly in order for your paper to be published. Twenty-five reprints and a copy of the journal will be supplied free of charge to corresponding author. A reprint order form is incorporated in the galley proofs and must be returned together with the proofs. In the case of reviews submitted by more than one author, please indicate who is the corresponding author, and to whom reprints should be sent. Additional reprints are available at a special rate from the publisher. Order forms for this purpose will be included when page proofs are sent to authors.
